Describe and evaluate the physical characteristics of the property, its integrity, and its significance within the context of the historic district (or individually for preliminary determinations of individual listings).

The two story, Queen Anne Style Stylesville Train Station is constructed of pressed brick. The roof is composed of intersecting gable and hipped portions and is supported by large brackets. Typical Queen Anne features found on the station include half-timbered gable ends, decorative brickwork and colored glass. The interior consists of men's and women's waiting rooms and a large freight room on the first floor and four small rooms which house the stationmaster on the second floor. It retains original beaded board ceiling, wainscoting, doors and woodwork. The station has a high degree of integrity.

Constructed in 1883, the Stylesville Train Station is a contributing element in the Stylesville Historic District, a cohesive collection of commercial, residential and ecclesiastical buildings dating from c. 1850 - c. 1925. The B&O Railroad Station anchors the south end of the district. An outstanding Queen Anne structure, it is one of the few brick structures in town and a focal point of the commercial area. The station reflects Stylesville's importance as an early stop on the Baltimore and Ohio main line.
